VOLUME FIFTY-SIX—NUMBER TWENTY-THREE

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1934

O. P. SCHUMANN, Editor and Proprietor.

What Other Editors Have To Say

GOOD, MR. STACK!

John K. Stack, Jr., auditor general, has not always been the most agreeable public official nor has his appointments to public office always been of the best. For instance it is pretty generally understood that his cancellation of the land tax sales of 1933 were intended to bring at least as much relief to the Stack Lumber company with its huge timber holdings as it did to the "dear people" talked about. Mr. Franklin K. Dodge was not altogether a popular choice and when Mr. James E. Mogan, country banker out of a job, was hoisted to the position of the sales tax board with $2000 a year in emoluments above the statutory salary set by the legislature, this was not so good.

But Stack's demand for a grand jury to smoke out the few gamblers that infest the state capitol is right and proper. Either there is altogether too much loose talk about bartering in pardons and contracts, jobs and appointments, franchises and special privileges or there is something going on which should be stopped. It is time the people knew the truth. A grand jury and a grand jury alone will clear this whole muddy, murky stream.

It is true that others in the state administration, taking their cue from Mr. Stack's insistence on a grand jury inquiry, beat the auditor general to the wire. Nevertheless it can't be denied that Stack's insistence on a full disclosure of all wrongdoing led the others to see the light. At any rate it is quite certain that some of the dirty linen now hanging about the state capitol will be aired.

The NEWS is happy also that the matter of receivership for closed banks, the mess which exists in the affairs of the liquor control commission, as well as matters pending before the utilities and other commissions at Lansing are to be inquired into.—Ingham County News, Mason.

A BUILDER OF BRIDGES

Gov. Comstock appears determined to have a bridge built across the Straits of Mackinaw at an estimated cost of $35,000,000. The Federal government to furnish the money. Only a few years ago Mr. Comstock was one of a number of men interested in building a bridge across the Detroit river, a project which on paper at least, was supposed to net a very tidy little profit on the investment. But somehow or other things didn't work out according to advance estimates. Not a penny of profit was ever made and the bonds are in default. Yet this bridge across the Detroit river costs only a fraction of the amount that will be required to connect the upper and lower peninsulas. In view of these facts it is difficult to see the line of reasoning by which Mr. Comstock arrives at the conclusion that his $35,000,000 bridge will be a howling success. Fortunately all save one of Michigan's contingent of Democratic congressmen have promised to fight this measure on the floor of the house if necessary. The Straits bridge appears to have very little chance of ever getting past the "pipe-dream" stage, for which we all may be truly thankful.—Hastings Banner.

Plead Guilty To Larceny

Sheriff Bennett got the goods on Ed. Horning last Friday night and the latter paid a fine of $15.00 and costs, amounting to $25.00.

Horning was charged with larceny. A pocketbook was stolen at the Peter Lovely restaurant Friday evening. It was reported to Sheriff Bennett. Suspicion pointed to the elder Horning said Sheriff Bennett and he was brought to the jail for questioning and search. The son, whom was with him, also was searched, but nothing was found on either. Then the Sheriff requested Undersheriff Frank May to examine their car which was in front of the Lovely restaurant. He too found nothing.

Then young Horning was ordered to get the car and drive back to the jail and take his father home. After he started, Bennett followed by a shorter route and watched young Horning from a dark spot. He saw him go to the back end of the Peter Lovely car and pick up a pocketbook and put it into his pocket.

Returning to the jail the Sheriff again beat him back and as Horning got out of his car he began taking the money out of the pocketbook and when he saw the Sheriff approaching he threw the empty pocketbook across the street toward the Adler Jorgenson home. When accused he denied what he had done but when the Sheriff found the abandoned pocketbook he admitted that he was guilty. The pocketbook had contained $11.00.

Entertain Bay City Garden Club

MR. AND MRS. H. B. SMITH, JR. HOSTS TO 21.

Twenty-one members of the Bay City Garden club came to Grayling Tuesday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Smith, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Slaven, of Bay City, at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith on the AuSable river.

The members of the Garden Club were here to study wild flowers and found scores of specimens along the nature trails that wind picturesquely thru the grounds of the beautiful AuSable property of the Smiths, where they grow in abundance. Mr. Garlock, Bay City horticulturist, a member of the club, pointed out the different varieties of wild flowers, giving their name, their nature and their origin, respectively.

At noon the members enjoyed a luncheon. Among the table decorations was a miniature canoe filled with wild flowers. The Smith summer home is a delightful place and we're sure the visitors found Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Slaven gracious hosts, and ones who equally enjoy their guests.

The latter were as follow: Mrs. McKinley, president of the Garden Club; Mrs. Robert Eddy, Mrs. F. D. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton R. Garlock.

Mrs. Hoyt Smart, Mrs. Lyle Cliff, Mrs. Frank Sweeny, Mrs. Russell Eddy, Mrs. William Johnson.

Mrs. W. L. Clements, Mrs. Cranage, Mrs. James Duffy, Jr., Mrs. Otto Teegner, Mrs. Charles Poyer.

Mrs. Charles Coryell, Mrs. R. H. Evans, Mrs. G. Wight Cooke, and Mrs. L. S. Holden, the latter from New York City.

LT. LIBECKE GIVEN FAREWELL BANQUET

Lt. John W. Libeck, who has been commanding officer of AuSable CCC camp #62 since last November was given a farewell banquet by the officers and men of his camp by whom he was so much admired, last Friday evening. Very special menu lists were prepared and at the banquet Andy French, office clerk, acted as toastmaster, and Lt. Libeck and others were called upon and in turn gave short, impromptu talks.

Lt. Libeck is returning to his position for the City of Detroit and as a token of the esteem in which he was held by the camp men and officers he was presented with a beautiful fountain pen and pencil set with his name and the company name engraved upon them.

This is a very fair recognition but probably not any more than Lt. Libeck rightly deserves.

Class of 1934 Graduates

GRADUATES' ROAD AHEAD

From high schools and colleges this month an army of young graduates are marching out to take up the serious problem of making a living. In many ways the future is not as bright as that which greeted their predecessors a few years ago when times were good. Conditions in the industrial and professional fields are not favorable. Many with years of experience are having a hard time to get along. The competition which these young men face in the ranks of the nation's workers will encounter may seem unusual and exceptionally discouraging, but it is well to bear in mind that there always has been competition, and the necessity for initiative and enterprise.

It will be well for the young folks to remember that father, mother, grandfather and grandmother also faced equally discouraging conditions, but they learned to do better for long, they had it in them to make good, and while the task of getting started may seem greater and more difficult than in former years, the more determined the student should be an incentive to give weight to the amount of time. The world was not made in a day. The class of this year's crop of graduates who have the proper spirit and right stuff in them will go ahead in the coming generation just as they have always done in the past.

Grayling Wins 26-4 From Eldorado Indians

Cooley Store Robbers Caught in Bay City

Blackie's Blackbirds went on a slugging rampage last Sunday at the local diamond and pounded three Indian hurlers for a total of 24 hits, 11 of which were doubles. Three of these came from the bat of Reggie Sheehy, acting captain for the Blackbirds. The game was called after 8½ innings of play due to the approaching darkness.

Batting averages soared for the local boys. Callahan got three hits out of four trips to the plate. Sheehy, Smith, Neal, Harrison and Baginski each getting 3 out of 6. The other three players each got 2 hits to aid their mates in reaching such an astounding total.

Batting averages soared for the local offense. In their story about the local offense they said that they were put off from a freight train that evening. They bunched around town during the evening then went to the hobo camp west of town. Returning they watched the local officials. At about 1:30 p. m. Sheriff Bennett, they said, went home. Then they circled the business block in which the Cooley gift shop here on the night of May 6th. Both boys have made sworn confessions to the latter offense.

Baginski, from OCC Camp #62, a much better choice than the one used last week at Kalkaska, pitched hitless ball for four innings. Due to wildness in the first frame two batters were hit with pitched balls, and one was walked coupled with an infield out was instrumental in giving the Indians the first run of the game. Again in the fourth inning the Indians started a rally. An error by May, a walk, a wild pitch and two field outs accounted for two more runs.

In the sixth inning Callahan was touched for the first Indian hit, a sharp single over center field. He was left stranded when the next batter batted an easy hopper to Neal at second.

Rudy Harrison pitched the seventh for the Blackbirds. It seemed all the boys wanted to pitch to try and even the score. Rudy was touched for Eldorado's second hit after one had walked and on an infield out one

THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1934

We are glad to report that at two dances held in Temple theatre since our last edition, were reported as orderly and without disturbance. There was a good attendance at the Firemen's dance Wednesday night, and also at the Frank Bridges dance at the Temple Saturday night. Trouble makers and noisy drunks were not admitted, and the dancers had enjoyable evenings. People like to dance and this affords those who sponsor such parties an opportunity to earn a livelihood. Just as long as these affairs are not the cause of disturbances so as to become a nuisance, we're sure nobody will object. Frank Bridges who sponsors the Saturday night dances, is a good citizen and deserves the support of the public, and any criticisms that may have been offered were in no way against him personally. Neighbors had been complaining against unnecessary and disturbing noises and vile, filthy and profane language in the vicinity of the Temple at times when dances were on. Last Saturday night's crowd was orderly, and sociable, and it is gratifying to know that a way has been found for keeping these affairs orderly. Credit is partly due our local officers and also some of the CCC camp officials for disciplining some of their young men who have been coming here to the dances.

"Jimmy" Hartwick arrived in his boyhood home on Saturday and spent two pleasant days on the AuSable with his old comrade M. Hanson. Needless to say both accomplished fishermen returned with the limit the law allows.

The home of N. Michelson was made lively on Sunday last by the visit of three young grandsons from Johannesburg and Master Robert Hartwick from Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. F. L. made the drive from Johannesburg in their automobile returning Sunday afternoon.

simply smiling, she admitted that she does not wish to live too much longer, "as it is getting a little dull now that I can't use my eyes to read anymore." Standing up too has become difficult, but the little lady still has resources. "Instead of going out on the terrace, I just stay in my rocking chair and sing!"

No, this tends to no phototypes on how one depicted of everything can still make life "interesting."

"With all admiration for this woman's courage and sustained sense of humor, with all respect for the pluck that, lacking anything else, can still sit back and sing we can cast no rose-colored light on the threadbareness of her existence."

What is inescapable, though it does smack of drawing a moral, is the contrast between such a life and anyone you know among those who are the worst off in the world. The question is, how many of them sing?

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Tool

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I am a poor woman and sell doughnuts for a living. I charge three cents apiece for the doughnuts. One man says he will buy a dozen doughnuts every day if I will take off one cent from the price of each doughnut, for the hole. I can't afford to sell them cheaper than three cents and would like him for a customer. What shall I do?

Sincerely,
OLIVE OYLE.

Answer—The next time you see him tell him you have decided to give him one cent for each hole when he returns the holes.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am in love with a young lady and I thought she loved me too. Last night I called at her house and her sister told me my girl was not at home. I happened to look on the rack in the hall and I saw my girl's hat hanging there, so I knew she was home. I never want to see her again. Am I right?

Sincerely,
BOB O. LINK.

Answer—You are acting silly. Because you saw her hat in the hall you say she must have been home. In that case, if you saw your girl's stocking in the wash you'd swear she was in the laundry.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My father told me that a "widow" and a "widow" were just the same. How can that be?

Yours truly,

FRANK LEE SPEAKING.

Answer—Your father's advice is very good. He means that when you get near either of them, you want to look out.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

A girl friend of mine was married yesterday and of course I went to the wedding. Some relatives brought their baby to the wedding and all during the ceremony the baby cried. It seemed to spoil the whole thing. I expect to be married very shortly and I want to know how I can keep the guests from bringing babies to the wedding. What shall I do?

Sincerely,
N. GAGED.

Answer—When you have your wedding invitations printed just have printed in one corner of the invitations—"No Babies Expected."

Blarney Stone Kissers

Slide Through Opening
There possibly is more "blarney" in circulation about the Blarney stone than ever was imparted to persons who have kissed that famous Irish rock, declared a writer in the Philadelphia Record.

There is general denial that the stone is hard to reach. This may have been true when Therese McCarthy built the sturdy castle some five miles northeast of Cork, about 500 years ago.

The stone is situated at the top of a massive donjon tower, rising 120 feet above the beautiful green surroundings of the castle. It is a lower outside stone—part of a parapet surrounding the tower.

In the old days, brave sons of Erin were supposed to hang over the outside of the parapet to reach the stone for the osculation ceremony. It is said they even hung by their toes—if they had no hand and were a bit short.

A hole large enough for a person to slide through pierces the parapet on a level with the lower door. Iron bars clasp to the stone serve as hand-grips. With back to the floor the person desiring to kiss the stone, may slide through the hole in ease and comparative safety. Some timid souls still insist on a companion holding their the growing boy and girl. Much of the protein is found in cheese where the casein protein is coagulated to form the substance we term cheese.

In addition to the casein in cheese, there is much milk mineral, namely, calcium and phosphorus, necessary for bone and teeth formation and growth.

The milk fat or butter fat serves to furnish heat and energy and it has the unique feature that it melts at less than body temperatures. The butterfat globules are suspended in the milk serum in very minute globules.

Butterfat carries a large portion of Vitamin D which is so important to the human and which serves to prevent rickets. Milk sugar is another carbohydrate in milk which is very similar to cane sugar.

For centuries people have accepted milk in terms of its butterfat value so that today milk is usually thought of in terms of the butterfat content solely. This is an error in that milk has rich properties in terms of supplying minerals to the human system. It is especially rich in calcium and phosphorus and there are traces of eight other minerals, all of them easily available to the digestive tract. Calcium and phosphorus serve to build bones and teeth and they also act to regulate the nervous system.

Scientific findings during the last fifty years have pointed to milk as a splendid source of all vitamins. Vitamins are recognized as food accessories and they are absolutely necessary for good health and even for life itself.

In concluding his remarks regarding the value of milk to the human race, Baltzer pointed out that about 20 cents out of the present food dollar is spent for the purchase of dairy products. Scientists recommend and some nations today are practicing spending as much as one-third of the food dollar for the purchase of dairy products. For instance, the people of northern European countries are consuming as many as 80 gallons of milk per person per year whereas the people in the United States consume about 40 gallons per person per year. The American consumes approximately 18 pounds of butter annually whereas the people of New Zealand and Canada consume as much as 27 to 30 pounds of butter each year.

The Swiss lead all nations in consuming cheese, consuming approximately whereas the people of the United States consume approximately 4 pounds of cheese each.

Welfare workers are agreed that when there is less income, more of the income should be spent for dairy products than at any other time because dairy products furnish such large amounts and completely available quantities of food material that can be used by the system.

The campaign for increasing the consumption of dairy products this year, both among urban and rural people has resulted in many more pounds of dairy products being consumed. Two advantages are apparent. First, better health to everyone, and second, improving the price for dairy products to producers.

According to A. C. Baltzer of the dairy department, Michigan State College, milk is recognized as nature's perfect food. Milk contains in balanced amounts the following food materials: Protein, casein, milk fat, milk sugar, and milk minerals, plus all of the vitamins in varying amounts. These food constituents are suspended in milk serum or a certain percentage of water which goes to make up the substance matter of milk.

One of the most valuable substances in milk is the protein which is muscle building, and permits body growth to occur. It also repairs tissues. Because the protein is complete in its form, namely, it has all of the amino acids required by the system to both build and repair muscle. Milk protein is doubly valuable to

The Nature of Braille—Six dots, arranged like the six dots of a domino, give the blind a key which opens out for them the whole range of literature and music. By cutting out one or more of these dots, sixty-three different combinations can be formed, and the inner-combinations possibly are innumerable. This is the famous Braille system, called Braille after its inventor, and it is used by blind readers and writers in every part of the world. The sixty-three combinations allow sufficient variety to cover any alphabet and also the punctuation marks and contractions. They can also be applied to numerals and music symbols. A thorough knowledge of the Braille system can be acquired in a few weeks' study, and proficiency in reading—performed by the fingers—is obtainable after about six months.—Montreal Herald.

Idols on Top of Mountain—On the top of a mountain in Mexico, 14,000 feet above sea level, explorers found several idols, bits of pottery and other clay pieces, lending credence to the legend that this lofty eminence was once the site of an ancient Indian temple. This is believed to be the highest point in North America, where Indians once worshipped, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. At one time, it is believed, there was a shrine on top of the mountain where Indians came to offer gifts to the God of the Mountain when desiring rain and good crops. The Indians today, however, believe the top of this mountain is inhabited by an evil spirit which drops rocks on daring climbers.

Nothing ever painted will excel the splendor of the lovely scenes that bless my weary gaze.

Dawn will come with fingers silver-tipped and slender,

And the midnight moon will leave her misty ways.

Paintings cannot tempt me when the hills and valleys March outside my window in starry pride.

From my hilltop cabin where the east wind dallies,

I shall see the treasures Time has delved.

Turnip, Growing Wild,

First Found by Greeks
Fire Found by Greeks

The turnip has been used as food since ancient times. The Greeks found it growing wild and cultivated it. Pliny, the Roman historian, reported turnips weighing 40 pounds. During the Middle Ages, turnips were used throughout Europe.

Before the introduction of potatoes in England, the turnip was of great importance and in Wales it remained the chief vegetable food of the poorer classes until the nineteenth century. The picture of a turnip was used in the coat-of-arms of many noblemen to represent a person of good disposition and one who relieved the poor.

In Germany during the World war the turnip crop was at times the chief source of food supply. During the winter of 1917 it became customary to eat turnips with nearly every meal, either boiled, fried, or ingeniously disguised in bread or coffee. For this reason, the winter of 1917 is often referred to in Germany as the "turnip winter."

The primitive species of turnip, from which the cultivated strains have been developed, grows wild in Russia and the Scandinavian peninsula.

THE delicate clang of the cash register keys, accompanied by an insistent obligato of cash drawers opening and closing is music to the merchant's ears. What annoys most merchants today is the extremely slow tempo in which this commercial music is played on their cash registers. Today, as yesterday, accelerating the pace of your cash register is accomplished by tuning up on your advertising. The Avalanche reaches, by reason of its wide circulation, those purchasing markets that still make purchases, that still build sales for merchants, that still read the Avalanche for news of bargains, seasonal merchandise, innovations, and competitive prices—markets that will keep your cash registers busy. Dr. and Mrs. William Anderson and Miss Marge Green, of Bay City, spent the week end at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Green.

On their return they were accompanied by little Anna May Green who will spend two weeks at the Anderson home.

Judge Frank Bell and son Francis arrived from Nequaneen Saturday to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mickelson at Lake Margrethe. Mrs. Bell had arrived earlier in the week and was also a guest of the Mickelson household.

If you like Chocolate, we can please you. For sundae: Mild Bittersweet, Dark Bittersweet, Frozen Fudge, Hot Fudge. For Soda and Milk drink we make our own. It mixes better and gives the real Chocolate flavor you like. Olsen's Central Drug Store.

Mrs. A. E. Michelson and daughter Jean, of Detroit, arrived Friday and will spend the summer at Lake Margrethe. They were accompanied by Miss Florence Ridley who will be Miss Jean's guest for a week and John Michelson and Richard Jacob who spent the week end here.

Don't forget Gaylord's Out-Door festival which will occur next Saturday and Sunday. Why not send a Grayling float to take part in the parade, and our band and bugle corps? Mio is having an out-door sports affair at the same time. Save-time for at least one of these events. Take the family and have a good time.

Franklin Williams, an Indian residing in the home formerly occupied by the Kechittigao family, is pretty expert in making bows and arrows. They are made of hickory and are durable and have great driving power. He sells them too cheaply—only $1.00 for the large sizes and small ones for a quarter. He should sell a lot of them for that price.

John Guggisberg of Gaylord is out for state legislator in the Cheboygan-Otsego district. He is the first candidate Otsego county has had in many years, and the people there feel that it is about time that they were considered.

And why not, especially when they offer a candidate like John. We would like to see him in the legislature from that district. He is capable in every way to represent his district.

For the pleasure of Mr. Joseph who was celebrating his birthday anniversary, Mrs. A. J. Joseph entertained with a house party at Torch Lake Saturday night.

There were friends from Traverse City as well as Grayling. Those from Grayling included Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Clippert, Mrs. Louise Connine, Mr. and Mrs. Lorane Sparkes, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Keppel, Carl Johnson, Mrs. Axel Michelson. They all returned to Grayling Sunday.

Lt. Mears of Dayton, Ohio, had a forced landing of his airplane at Lovells Sunday, which was badly damaged. Engine trouble forced the pilot to land and fearing that a landing in an open field nearby might cause a nose turn, he chose to land in the Ward pine nursery. Quite a number of small pine trees were mowed down and the fuselage was wrecked.

Lt. Mears said that it was hardly likely that any more than the motor can be salvaged. He escaped without injury.

parties. These political parties come in for the bulk of the criticism because they are the dominant parties, but critical political writers seem to forget that the faults which exist today in these parties are not chargeable to the people of America who have been remiss in their political duties. They appear to forget just what the people in them permit them to be. A lot of people are growing politically minded today, because they have suffered from depression, who were too selfish or too shiftless, or too indifferent to take an interest in politics when the going was good. Citizenship involves responsibilities which they were unwilling to assume, with the result that selfish men took advantage of their inaction and ran the political parties to suit themselves. There is nothing fundamentally wrong with the republican and democratic parties, and they are probably as good vehicles for the expression of public will as any party could be, the trouble being that over fifty per cent of the people made no effort to obtain an intelligent knowledge of government and give expression to their will through political activity; and will be equally true of new political parties which so many people are anxious to form—they can function only as the people show intelligent and active interest. We believe two great political parties in our country, in which all the people are actively engaged, can do more good than a number of parties, and there isn't a governmental evil complained of today that cannot be remedied through the two major parties now existing if the people will throw off their political lethargy and get busy.—The Cas-sopolis Vigilant.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT COSTS

Detroit—dynamic and defaulting—now comes forth with ideas how many of the counties of the state, some 32 of them, should consolidate and thus cut the cost of government in two!

The Detroit Free Press glibly tells how any county with a population of less than 17,000 should consolidate with an adjoining county and presto! expenses are cut in half. They point out as a horrible example the town of Hesperia which is located on the county line of Oceana and Newaygo counties. The Free Press intimates that the citizens of Hesperia are lying awake nights thinking what an awful expense it is to have two counties there instead of one, having in mind that two sets of county officials are needed for Oceana's and Newaygo's 30,000 population, while not far away in Muskegon County where one set of officials care for 86,000 residents. The Press will bet a pair of country editor's pants to a brain-truster's bottle of hair oil that the cost of county government in Muskegon County is three times what it is in Newaygo and Oceana combined.

Perhaps there are very sparsely settled counties in some portions of the state that could be consolidated and it would be a sound economic proposition but it is doubtful.

In the first place, the cost of county government in the small counties is very low. In Lapeer County with its 28,348 population the entire costs of county government, not including a $102,500 budget for welfare in only $37,800 for the present year. Compare this with Genesee County, Genesee has a population of 211,641. The cost of county government there, excluding $463,680 for the poor fund, is $272,320. So you see the cost of county government is almost in direct ratio with the population. Whether a county is consolidated with another or not.

would have no effect on the amount necessary for the care of the poor. The poor we will always have with us—be the country large or small.

County officials in the smaller counties work for low salaries. In Lapeer County (population 28,348) the salaries range from $1125 to $2250 a year. In the smaller counties to the north county officials draw $800 to $1500 a year and get along with a $10 a week clerk. In those counties as well as in Lapeer, the counties' officials put in long hours at their desks every day. Their jobs are not sinecures. They have no private offices where black cigars are smoked and political plots hatched. They are on the firing line every day for six days a week.

Consolidating counties would not lessen the work to be done. What does it matter whether two do the work in the county treasurer's office at Lapeer or consolidate with Tuscola and have four do the job?

Then there is the matter of transportation cost and inconvenience to residents. With counties as they are now the average resident of the county can travel to the county seat in about 12 miles. Place the county seats twice as far apart and that average distance is doubled, and the cost is doubled. Figuring 11 cents a mile cost, a county with 50,000 families has a traveling cost of $60,000 for a trip to the county seat and return. Every family makes at least one trip to the county seat in a year. Double the distance to the county capital and there is another $60,000 cost which the taxpayer must pay for transportation.

In addition, there is danger. If consolidation is adopted, the more centralization idea behind the county consolidation movement. Folks are learning that the further away the government is, the higher the cost and the greater the leaks. Keeping the government close to the people at home and the cost is much lower in proportion.

County consolidation will not work nor will the people of Michigan ever approve of it—even if Detroit is ready to tell the folks up in the sticks how to run their business.—Lapeer County News.

LOVELLS

(By Mrs. C. Nephew)

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Piercson have moved to Grayling.

The Lovells ball boys went to Curran to play ball last Sunday. The score was 11 and 22 in favor of Lovells.

Miss Martha Volmer of Fred-eric was a guest at the Glen Gregg home Sunday.

Mr. Corsaut and daughter Helma of Frederic were callers in Lovells last Sunday.

There was a little excitement in Lovells last Sunday about thirty. An army plane crashed about a half-mile from Lovells in the Anderson pines. It tore the pines up for about 10 rods. The plane was badly damaged. Luckily the pilot was not hurt.

Mrs. Frank Eman is entertain-ing a party of friends at her lodge near Lovells.

There was an exciting ball game played in town last Thursday evening between our ball boys and the old time players. The scores were 9-9 in favor of who?

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symons and children of Saginaw enjoyed a few days at the Kuehl cabin.

The Cheerful Givers met at the home of Mrs. J. E. Kellogg last Thursday.

The world sure has changed. Now they say that a woman's business life doesn't really begin until she is forty. In the old days when a woman arrived at the fortieth milestone she used to settle down to become a nice plump grandmother.

In his talk to the boys of 672, Prof. Jotter divided Michigan conservation history into three parts:

(1) The days of gigantic forest growth or the Paul Bunyan period, (2) the time of denuding the forests by the lumber industry, which he calls the dark ages, (3) the present period of conservation which might be compared to the golden age.

Mr. Hannon, personal representative of Robert Fletcher, director of the Emergency Conservation work, held a conference in Grayling June 11. Many of the officers of the district met with him to discuss their problems.

672 having lost its library in the fire, the Chaplain is donating about 20 mystery "Thrillers" and Wild West stories for the use of the boys at Camp Higgins Lake.
